Jolie Lucas, LCSW, CEO

Types of Counseling: I enjoy working with individuals who feel that they want to make positive changes in their lives. I have worked with both male and female clients. In my present practice, I see about 80% women and 20% men. I have experience in mental health with individuals, couples, teens, groups, families, and consultations. Further, I have specific experience working with depression, Women's Issues, terminally ill clients, and clients experiencing grief. I am open to working with clients of any religion, ethnic group, or sexual orientation.

Methods: I am trained in cognitive-behavioral therapy. It is my desire to help the client identify areas of needed change, and help create a path to reach new goals. I prefer to see clients weekly for the first six weeks, and then a schedule of bi-monthly sessions can be instituted. Therapeutic techniques include counseling sessions, home assignments, journaling, art therapy, and collaboration with physician (if appropriate), and recreation therapy.

The process of therapy can be painful at times. As your therapist, I feel it is my role to be with you on your journey and allow you to dictate the pace and direction of our work together. I believe that current issues can be related to difficulties we have had in the past. We may focus on processing past experiences in an effort to gain insight into resolving current problems in your life.

Fees: All fees are based on a 70-75 minute session. . Clients can request a shorter session if preferred or required by insurance provider. Fees: Intake/Diagnostic Interview: $175.00. Follow-up sessions: $160.00. Telephone consultations; report writing and crisis work are all billed at $160.00 per hour. 45-minute sessions are $140.00 A fee of $160.00 is charged for all sessions that are not canceled with 24-hour notice. In cases where there is less than 24-hour notice, call the office immediately. If you can be rescheduled within the same week, you will not be charged the missed session fee, but there will be a $10.00 rescheduling fee applied to your account.

Billing: Cascade Counseling will bill your primary insurance for you. The client is responsible to pay your co-pay or percentage not covered. Calendar deductibles apply to some insurance plans, and are the responsibility of the client to pay. If the client has a secondary insurance plan, we are able to provide the necessary information for the client to bill himself or herself. Cascade Counseling does not bill secondary insurance for clients.

Office Hours and Crisis Response: My office hours for Cascade Counseling are Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 12 noon. to 5:00 p.m. Clients are encouraged to leave a confidential voice message for their therapist at any time. Only the therapist has access to their individual message line. If the client feels that they are in immediate need of mental health treatment, they are advised to call the county mental health center in the community in which they reside.

Experience: I have worked in the mental health field since 1986. I have held positions in crisis intervention, counseling, assessment, case management, and administration. I have three and a half years experience working in an in-patient mental health hospital. I have five years of emergency room mental health and hospice practice. I have been in private practice since 1992. I have specific experience in working with people recovering from illness/trauma, physical or sexual abuse, grief and loss, depression, infertility, and AIDS.
